My family has a lot of influence on me, especially in my decisions, because we are very close and directly the future of all members relates, either positively or negatively. My closest ideals or goals are to graduate with honorable mention, and my family has a lot to do with this dream, because they always drive me forward, help me when I need to do teaching material for practices in the playground and always have a smile for me, at times when I feel like I can no longer. I think they'll help me in everything and always back me up. As for the personal my mother wants me to stay with her always, to have no children and to fulfill my professional goals always at her side, however my wishes are very different, I plan to get married after getting a place here in Saltillo, having 4 children, having a party room and a house with pool, although they are difficult things. I consider that my father and I have the same ideals and see my future the same, with many professional and personal achievements, we are very similar and never give up, we always try to update ourselves and train ourselves to succeed.
