Learning objective: use the present perfect and simple past in a conversation about past experiences

A Carlos and Erin are discussing where to eat dinner. Listen and practice your pronunciation. Answer the questions.

Erin: I'm sorry I'm late. Have you been here long?

Carlos: No, only for a few minutes. So, have you chosen a restaurant yet?

Erin: I can't decide. We can go to a big restaurant or have a sandwich at a café. Have you ever had a Cuban sandwich?

Carlos: No, I haven't. Are they good?

Erin: They're delicious. I've had them many times.

Carlos: You really like Cuban food! Have you ever been to Cuba?

Erin: No, but I went to college in Miami. I ate empanadas and rice and beans all the time!

B Listen to the rest of the conversation. Where do they decide to go after lunch?

A=

1. Has Carlos ever had a Cuban sandwich? A= No it hasn't
2. Has Erin ever eaten rice and beans? A= Yes, yes it has
3. Have you ever had a Cuban sandwich? A= No I haven't
4. Have you ever eaten rice and beans? A= Yes, very few times

GRAMMAR FOCUS

Learning objective: ask present perfect questions about experiences and answer in the present perfect and simple past; use the present perfect with for and since to describe past experiences

ANALYZE

MEANING AND FORM

Present perfect vs. simple past

Use the present perfect for an indefinite time in the past.

Use the simple past for a specific event in the past.

Have you ever eaten Cuban food?

Yes, I have. I've had it many times.
No, I haven't. I haven't tried it yet.

I ate a lot of Cuban food when I lived in Miami.

No, I never tried it when I lived in Miami.

Have you ever seen an alligator?

Yes, I have. I've seen a few alligators in my life.

I saw a big alligator at the new park last week.

No, I haven't. I've never seen one.

I didn't go to the alligator park last week, so I didn't see any.

EVER means "at any time in your life". We use it in present perfect questions, but not in answers.

NEVER means "not ever", and we use it in the present perfect statements.

When did Erin eat rice and beans?

A= When he went to university in miami

UNIQUE EXPERIENCES

How much is that pizza?!

Do you like pizza? Do you really like pizza? Do you like pizza enough to spend over $100 on one? Some people do! And here's the reason why. Truffles are similar to mushrooms, but they grow underground. They're extremely expensive. They can cost hundreds of dollars each. Pizza usually only costs a few dollars, but some people have paid as much as $178 to eat pizza with fresh white truffles on it. Celebrity TV chef Gordon Ramsay has won a place in the Guinness Book of Records for inventing this expensive dish.

Do you sleepwalk?

Did you know that some people walk in their sleep? Well, you probably do because it's a surprisingly common problem. In fact, almost a third of the U.S. population has sleepwalked at some point in their lives. The actress Jennifer Aniston is one of them. Jennifer has set off the burglar alarm in her own house by walking around while she was asleep.

Set sail in a bathtub!

Have you ever dreamed of going on a really big adventure? One man has crossed the Irish Sea . . . in a bathtub! Yes, you heard that right. Mervyn Kincaid has sailed from Ireland to Scotland in a bathtub with a small engine attached. Even better, Mervyn has raised a lot of money for charity. His friends and family have all made donations.

Oh no! I hit "send"!

Have you ever pushed "send" on a text message and then realized you've just sent a text to the wrong person? Hopefully not! But Burt Brown has. This 30-year-old software engineer has just sent 30 cute pictures of his baby to his boss instead of his mom! Luckily, his boss is a good guy and understood the mistake.
