Grammar practice “Present Perfect”

- We use the present perfect to talk about past actions (or recent past action) that has a connection to now.

He has had five cups of coffee today.

- We often use the present perfect to talk about periods of time that have not finished (as today, this week, this month.. etc) or to say that something has happened several times

My mother has cooked lasagna three times this week.

Grammar practice “Present Perfect”

- We also use present perfect to talk about life experiences, at an unspecified time in the past. We often use never in negative sentences.

I have never made sushi

- We often use the adverb ever to ask about life experiences and make questions.

Have you ever been to a vegetarian restaurant?

Grammar practice “Present Perfect”

- The present perfect is formed with the verb have + the past participle

- Affirmative statements

I've eaten sushi many times

- Negative statements

She has not made sushi lately.

- Questions

Have you been to a vegetarian restaurant?
Yes, I have been to, several times.
No, I've not been to a vegetarian restaurant.
No, I've never been to one.

Has Mario taken cooking classes?
Yes, he's taken cooking classes.
